

eliminating the officials of the national and subordinate labor organizations. All elements of the conference are agreed that the labor will defeat the Wheeler measure if it comes to a vote.

The Russell-Endicott measure then would be next in order. This resolution would pledge the conference to recognize the right of the employees to bargain collectively and to select their representatives without restriction. The employers' group has repeatedly voiced emphatic opposition to this proposal, which has the support of the public and labor delegates. Since an adverse vote by a single group can defeat any resolution, there is practically no hope of the Russell-Endicott measure being adopted.

Sentiment Sold to Be Necessary. Suggestions that the conference adopt new tactics and eliminate collective bargaining from consideration temporarily, have met decided opposition. Many of the conference delegates are particularly strong in their support of this view. Unless the present deadlock can be broken, many of the delegates were outspoken in their belief that the conference may fail.

At a meeting of a portion of the central committee it was resolved to submit a modified version of the Russell-Endicott resolution to the labor and employers' groups, with a plea that the measure be accepted tentatively and get to the floor of the conference for a vote. The labor delegates were not present at this meeting.

Does it not lie in our constant endeavor to have enforced the fraud laws now on the statute books of the various states, supplemented, if need be, by such sound legislation by the Federal Government? The question for us to decide, it seems to me, is whether as legitimate investment bankers we should not advocate national legislation covering the question of policy, and when the matter is reached for discussion in the order of business, I hope it will have the earnest and careful consideration of every delegate present.

Dealing in Liberty Bonds.

"It was hoped not only by the Government but by all thoughtful citizens that the millions of new bondholders created by the flotation of the Liberty Bonds would become permanent holders of Government securities. These young investors are being persuaded literally by the millions to exchange the finest security in the world for a promise of a 100 per cent annual income. It is the duty of every investment banker to meet these attempts with a blow from the shoulder. I assume that on our own initiative we will not persuade Liberty Bond holders to exchange the Liberty Bonds for standard securities, but we should go much further than this and use our utmost endeavor individually and collectively to prevent them from being swayed by unscrupulous sellers of so-called 'like' securities."

Besides the president's address, the forenoon program included reports of the secretary and treasurer, the Finance Committee, Benjamin F. Taylor, Chicago, chairman; Membership Committee, William G. Lerchen, Detroit, chairman; Irrigation Securities Committee, Herbert Witherspoon, Spokane, chairman, and the Government Bond Committee, Clarkson Foster, chairman.

The delegates lunched at the Racquet Club and went for the afternoon to the Sunset Hill Country Club, where a golf tournament was arranged. The business session will be resumed after a dinner at Sunset Hill at 5:30 p. m.

Report on Publicity. At the evening session reports will be submitted by committees on publicity, real estate securities and municipal securities, and Homer B. Hulbert will deliver an address on "The Flying Line of American Commerce."

George W. Hodges of New York, vice president of the association, said that investment brokers induce the "blue sky" laws in effect in various states, but are desirous of obtaining greater uniformity in their provisions. In a number of states, he said, brokers and their clients are subjected to delays in obtaining rulings on the legitimacy of stock and bond issues that entail financial losses.

The convention will also consider the question of extending foreign credits to build up American foreign trade and thus provide an outlet for surplus American products. A report on this subject, by Thomas L. Lamont of New York, member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., and financial advisor to the American Peace Mission, will be presented tomorrow.

To Survey Railroad Situation. A survey of the railroad situation and recommendations as to the return of the roads to their owners are contained in a report to be presented to the convention tomorrow by the Railroad Securities Committee, of which Allen B. Forbes of New York is chairman. Hodges asserted in this report, which was presented to the Board of Governors of the association at a meeting at Hotel Statler yesterday, contains a general indictment of the railroads but now pending in Congress. Several changes in the bill will be proposed, he said.

The investment bankers have arranged for an address to be delivered Wednesday by Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, on "The Side of Labor in Our Industrial Affairs." It was pointed out that the unsettled condition of labor has greatly affected the sale of industrial and public utilities securities and it was for this reason that Woll was invited to explain the viewpoint of labor leaders.

WHITE HOUSE UNABLE TO DETERMINE WHEN PRESIDENT MAY GET BACK TO WORK

Mr. Wilson Declared to Be Still a Very Sick Man—Family Feels That Details of Illness Are Private Matter.

By DAVID LAWRENCE, A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—President Wilson is still a very sick man. Encouraging progress is noted in the official bulletins, but his condition remains of such a serious character that none of them in attendance can predict with certainty the time of his ultimate recovery. That the President is out of danger seems at this time assured, though an unforeseen complication can always upset the best of assurances in that regard.

At a meeting of a portion of the central committee it was resolved to submit a modified version of the Russell-Endicott resolution to the labor and employers' groups, with a plea that the measure be accepted tentatively and get to the floor of the conference for a vote. The labor delegates were not present at this meeting.

SCHOOL REPORT SHOWS EXPENSES EXCEED REVENUE

Deficit of $65,662.67 in Last Year Made Up From Surplus Funds on Hand From Previous Years.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MAKES FACTS PUBLIC

Advanced Cost of Educating Each Pupil Renders Tax Rate Increase Necessary, Board Argues.

In an effort to show that the school tax rate must be increased to meet necessary expenses, the Board of Education today made public a report of the last year's financial condition. The report shows that the deficit was $65,662.67 greater than the revenue. The deficit was made up from a surplus on hand from previous years. Expenses totaled $5,789,688.65, and the revenue, $5,724,026.68. As is known, a special election will be held Nov. 11 on the question of increasing the rate from 60 to 75 cents.

Cost of education increased from the preceding year, the report shows. Each pupil in the elementary grades cost the taxpayers an average of $44.62 for the school year 1918-19, while the average cost the preceding year was $39.19. Likewise, the education of each high school student last year cost $117.92, while the cost the preceding year was $107.90.

Even the cost of rebinding books, which, in previous years, has been 10 cents a book, last year was more than 19 cents each for the 24,707 books that were rebound at the school bindery.

Enrollment Sets Record. The total enrollment last year was 105,795, being 181 more than the year before, and setting a new high record. Three per cent of the children were born in other countries. Of the foreign-born pupils, 1161 came from Russia; Italy was second, with 488; 259 were natives of Austria; 189 of Germany, 173 from England, 123 from Hungary, 97 from Canada, 53 from Greece, 31 from Scotland and the remainder from various other countries.

Total value of school property at the end of the year was $18,520,868.88, of which $15,355,720.83 was in buildings, $2,166,045.49 in sites, and $999,102.56 in equipment.

The school census, taken every five years, showed last year that there were 159,715 persons in the city between the ages of 6 and 20, so that $1,920 between those ages did not attend school. There were 6046 pupils who did not miss a day at school during the term.

The largest item of expense last year was for teachers' salaries, which comprised 70 per cent of the whole, totaling $4,026,168.88. Operation cost was $589,841.58; administration, $258,064.20; maintenance, $238,614.13; new buildings and permanent improvements, $372,051.85; auxiliary agencies and other school expenses, $217,634.74; and miscellaneous payments, $4,949.84.

Receipts were derived from the following sources: city taxes, $4,219,745.52; licenses, $678,834.80; State, $492,198.66; Federal funds, $56,323.81; rents, $106,578.09; interest, $106,167.30; tuition, $7789.23; sundries, $4735.65; nonrevenue receipts, $56,644.33.

Receipts from the lunchrooms at the high schools and Harris Teachers College totaled $132,141.40, while the expenses were $131,999.70. It is aimed merely to make these receipts meet the costs.

Truants Total 1991. There were 4641 pupils who completed the eighth grade, and 1042 who were graduated from the high schools. Of 65,225 cases of irregular attendance reported, only 1991 were found to be truants. A total of 6444 employment certificates was issued to boys and girls who had reached the age of 14 years and wanted to leave school to work.

Of the total enrollment, 833,399 were in the elementary schools, 10,472 in the high schools, and the remainder in the teachers' college and the Junior High School.

A table in the report shows that 1219 pupils were in the kindergarten, 12,229 in the first grade, 9739 in the second grade, 9637 in the third, 8369 in the fourth, 9363 in the fifth, 8211 in the sixth, 6524 in the seventh, 5125 in the eighth, while 1750 are given as "ungraded." And who are given special work because of backwardness in studies.

Physical defects, mostly bad teeth, were discovered in 24,617 pupils. Of these, 849 underwent operations to correct the defects; 1025 obtained glasses; 1794 were sent to clinics and hospitals; 5112 were referred to family physicians. There were 17,349 cases of bad teeth.

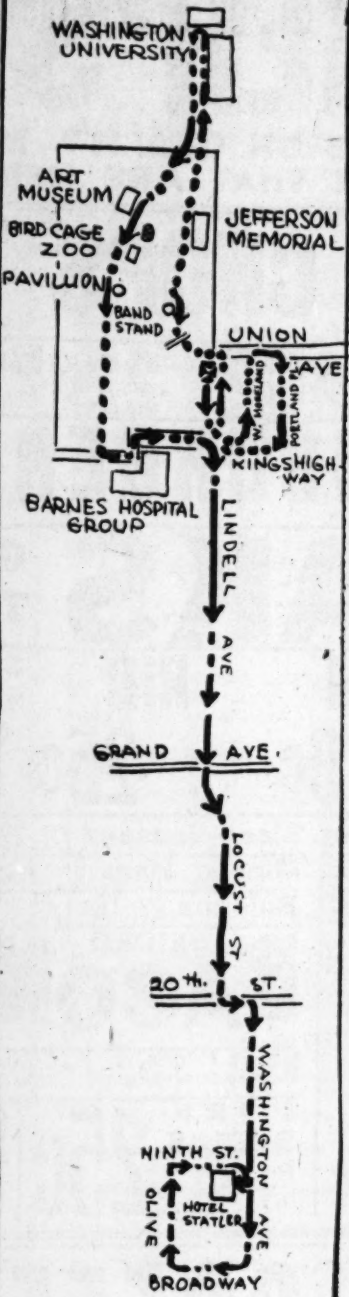

There were 1279 cases of communicable disease found, and 7777 cases that were not communicable. The complete report will be ready for issuance about the first of the year.

Eleven aviators who are eligible to start on the last leg of the flight were at San Francisco, but only one had announced definitely that he would depart today.

By the Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 20.—Lieut. Worthington, in the army transcontinental air race, landed here from Buffalo this morning and left for Bryan, O.

In front of the New Cathedral, along Lindell boulevard at various places, school children will wave flags and sing patriotic songs.

At the northeast corner of Sarah street and Lindell boulevard, a space has been reserved for the Belgian Benevolent Society of St. Louis, which will display American and Belgian flags. The King, Queen and Crown Prince will stop here and receive the greetings of the society, which is composed of St. Louisans of Belgian birth or ancestry. F. Lemoine is president. Alphonsus Vos, secretary, will be in charge of a chorus which will sing "La Brabanconne," the hymn of Brabant, which is the national air of Belgium.

The authorized translation of this song from the French is: "The years of slavery are past, the Belgian relies on his own strength. Stronger he will be, he will keep the ancient flag unfurled. To fill his mansion on the watchful world."

For the right and liberty. A call for the chairmen and secretaries of American Legion posts, in St. Louis and St. Louis County, to meet in front of the St. Louis Club, 3663 Lindell boulevard, for the passing of the procession, was issued this afternoon by Robert Burkman, chairman of the local Executive Committee of the legion. In case either the chairman or the secretary cannot come, another member should be designated.

Guests at Luncheon. After arriving at Hotel Statler at 10:15 a. m., the King will be taken to visit industrial plants. At 12:30 he will go to a luncheon, given in his honor at the Statler by the Chamber of Commerce. Queen Elizabeth, at the same time, will take lunch privately with the Women's Reception Committee.

After the luncheon the royal party will drive to Union Station, the route of this drive being west on Washington avenue to Nineteenth street and south on Nineteenth street to the station. At Springfield, the next stop, the party will visit the tomb of Abraham Lincoln.

In accordance with the King's wish, there will be no long speeches. The King is accustomed to say a few words in reply to official greetings on his arrival, and it is expected that he will make a brief utterance at the luncheon.

Police arrangements similar to those at the time of President Wilson's visit have been made. The guests will have a motor cycle escort, and policemen will precede the line and will be stationed at every cross street, and later at the hotel and at Union Station. During the stay of the King and Queen at the Statler no traffic or parking of vehicles will be permitted on Ninth street between Washington avenue and Locust street.

MAN IS RUN OVER TWICE BY A TRUCK, THEN HIT BY CAR

He Suffers Several Fractured Ribs, Concussion of Brain and Lacerations.

John Fuqua, 48 years old, 2445 Slattery street, was twice run over by an automobile and was struck by a street car today at 9 a. m. at Grand avenue and Montgomery street. A front wheel of an automobile truck passed over his body, leaving him beneath the truck body. A street car struck the truck and a rear wheel of the truck passed over him, leaving him in the street-car tracks. The motorman of the street car dropped his front and rear fenders. The first passed over Fuqua. The second picked him up and carried him several feet.

His injuries totaled several fractured ribs, concussion of the brain, scalp wounds and other cuts and bruises.

The automobile truck was that of the Express Co., driven by John H. Sudver, owner of the company, who was arrested.

4000 PHOTOGRAPHS OF SERVICE MEN IN JEFFERSON MEMORIAL

State Historical Society Is Collecting Pictures of Fighters From St. Louis and County.

Nearly 4000 photographs of men from St. Louis and St. Louis County who served in the war have been collected by the Missouri Historical Society and are on exhibition in the Jefferson Memorial. Three hundred are dead. These are displayed in the cases. It is hoped in time to have pictures of all St. Louis and St. Louis County men who were in the war and the remainder of those who lost their lives.

Thousands of service records also have been collected, but the majority have not been sent in. It is hoped that the information be given, as Adjutant-General Harvey C. Clark wishes to use the records in the war. Blanks for this information may be had at Jefferson Memorial, War Camp Community service, 108 North Fourth street, and Demobilization Bureau, 219 North Ninth street.

SALVATION ARMY COMMANDER GETS D. S. C. FOR WAR WORK

Citation Cites That Evangeline Booth Was "Tireless in Her Devotion to Her Duties."

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The Distinguished Service Medal for exceptionally meritorious and distinguished service was conferred on Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army today at the meeting of the Eastern Congress of that organization here yesterday.

Major-General D. C. Shanks, commanding officer of the Port of Embarkation, acting for Secretary of War Baker, made the presentation. The citation stated that Commander Booth had been tireless in her devotion to her manifold duties, and added:

The contribution of the Salvation Army toward winning the war is conspicuous, and the results obtained were due in marked degree to the great executive ability of its commander.

About 150 Salvation Army workers who had toiled among the soldiers in the front line trenches were presented with bronze medals by Commander Booth.

HOME PLEDGES REACH $700,000

Construction of Dwellings to Begin When $1,000,000 Is Subscribed.

Additional subscriptions to the Home and Housing Association fund have raised the total to $700,000, and plans have been submitted to 1000 manufacturers which should, it is felt, speedily result in $300,000 more being subscribed, upon which the construction of workmen's model homes will be started.

The first two shares of stock delivered went to Gus Gillerman of the Gillerman Iron and Metal Co. Among the latest subscriptions were: Paul Brown, $5000; Thomas H. West, $1000; J. Lionberger Davis, $300. Manufacturers from a number of other cities have written for information on the program.

He is survived by his widow and three children—Mrs. Ruth Parkell Haynes, William S. and Fred B. Parkell. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from St. Wagoner chapel, 3621 live street. Interment will be in Valhalla Cemetery.

Tiffany Gives Studio for Artists.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—To provide a place where "artists who show real ability may work in inspiring surroundings," Louis Comfort Tiffany has given Laureton Hall and 80 acres of land, containing a studio and dormitory buildings at Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., together with his extensive art collections, library and an endowment sufficient to maintain it, for the establishment of an institution to be known as the Louis Comfort Tiffany Foundation. It is announced by Robert W. de Forest, one of the trustees.

ADJUTANTS-GENERAL BEGIN SESSION HERE

Association Meets to Consider Bill for Reorganization of National Guard.

The Association of Adjutants-General is meeting today at Hotel Jefferson to consider a bill prepared by the National Guard Association of the United States for reorganization of the National Guard. About 25 Adjutants-General were present when the meeting was opened, and others are expected to arrive today, as 40 had promised to attend the meeting. The meeting was called by Adjutant-General Charles I. Martin of Kansas, formerly a brigade commander in the Thirty-fifth Division, at the request of the Law Committee of the National Guard Association.

Col. John B. Rose of New York, chairman of the Organization Committee of the National Guard Association, said the proposed bill is intended as a substitute for the Baker, Chamberlain and Dent bills, which propose a large standing army.

"Our bill," said Col. Rose, "provides for a regular army of 100,000 men, 550,000 national guardsmen, an organized reserve of 1,250,000 and universal military training as distinct from universal military service. We propose to take the boy after his Boy Scout training and give him military work in school, and after high school, two months' intensive military training, place him after that in the National Guard for one year and then in the reserve."

"The regular army plan would take the boy out of his home for six months' intensive training and then place him in the regular army. We are against any such plan and will defeat the bills now before Congress."

The new bill will be debated this afternoon and amendments considered tonight and tomorrow. Approval of the bill by the Adjutant-Generals' Association is sought by the National Guard Association.

2 HURT WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

One Is St. Louis Woman—Freight Train Hit Electric.

The rear coach of a two-car train on the St. Louis-Springfield limited electric line of the Illinois Traction Co. was turned over on its side when a freight train, backed by a Terminal switch engine, bumped into the passenger train at the Madison avenue crossing in Venice at 8:15 o'clock this morning.

Only two passengers were injured, according to officials of the traction company, and they were but slightly bruised and hurt. The injured woman was Mrs. C. W. Buck of St. Louis, who was on her way to Peoria. The other was a man.

1302 ST. LOUIS SALOONS MAY GET $253,659 LICENSE REBATE

Action Will Be Necessary If Wartime Enforcement Measure Is Effective Oct. 28.

The City Counselor today forwarded to the Comptroller an opinion in which he said the city could not legally comply with the Excise Commissioner's request for an appropriation of $1500 to pay the expenses of his office for the remainder of the year.

Commissioner Lewis today said that so far as the issuing of saloon licenses is concerned his office will automatically expire when the prohibition enforcement act goes into effect, but two or three months will be required to put his records in shape for formal closing of the office.

The usual annual State appropriation for the office has been $3,000, but the appropriation for this year was only $7,500. Lewis said he would borrow the needed $1,500 and ask the next Legislature to give him relief.

The 1302 saloons now operating in St. Louis have licenses which will expire Jan. 15, the day before national prohibition goes into effect. If, as expected, the enforcement act as to wartime prohibition goes into effect Oct. 28, it will be necessary to refund to these saloonkeepers an aggregate of $253,659 on the unexpired license period. This refund will come, about equally, from the city and State treasuries.

JUDGE FARIS' NAME ON DOOR

Federal Court Chambers Are Prepared for Judge's Successor.

Although attaches of the United States District Court in St. Louis have received no word from Judge Charles B. Faris since his confirmation by the Senate to succeed David P. Dyer as Judge of the court, it was observed today that Judge Faris' name appeared on the chambers in the northwest corner of the third floor of the Federal Building. Judge Dyer moved Saturday from these chambers to those of Judge Smith of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals across the corridor.

It is understood that Judge Faris will not resign from the Missouri Supreme Court until his commission as Federal Judge arrives from Washington.

LONG LINES AT ARMY STORES

The food line at the Government retail store, Fourth street and Washington avenue, was a little more than three blocks long this morning, less than in recent days, but the food line, three blocks long, and the clothing line, three-fourths of a block, were normal at the other store, West Belle place and Vandeventer avenue.

At the latter, those in line found that all available fuel had been raked up and used Saturday morning. Those in line, so there were no warning bonfires along the sidewalk this morning.

'REDS' IN GOVERNMENT SERVICE, SAYS SENATOR

Watson Asserts Trade Commission Uses Men Hostile to Americanism.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Sensational charges that Socialists, Reds and other radicals are "intrenched" in the Government departments, and particularly that the investigating forces of the Federal Trade Commission contain men hostile to the Government and American institutions, were made in the Senate today by Senator Watson, Republican, of Indiana, who introduced a resolution for an investigation of the Trade Commission.

Disclaiming any defense of the great meat packers, Senator Watson declared that the open records of some of the commission's employees in that investigation showed them to be respectively outspoken anarchists, participants in "Red" parades, pro-Germans, admirers of Lenin and Trotsky and avowed exponents of Soviet Government.

"Of Stuart Chase, who had general charge of the investigation of the meat packing industry, Senator Watson charged, that, besides being a well known exponent of Socialist doctrine, Chase was president and organizer of the Fabrian Club of Chicago, 'a society founded for the express purpose of furthering the doctrine of Socialism.'"

"Grouped about him in his offices at Federal Trade Commission headquarters," declared Senator Watson, "were Victor Berger, Irvin St. John Tucker and many other extreme Socialists. 'His office became the rendezvous of men devoted to the destruction of property, the overthrow of Government and consumption of the ideals of Socialism.'"

Chase, Senator Watson further charged, helped organize a Chicago meeting at which Berger and other radicals made inflammatory speeches and also organized a meeting at which Lincoln Steffens spoke.

"That anarchist," said Senator Watson, referring to Steffens, "had just returned from Russia and his address was to aid in the recognition of Lenin and Trotsky by our Government."

Chase later wrote a magazine article, Senator Watson said, "assailing the United States Government for not recognizing the Russian Reds." On Chase's specific instructions, Senator Watson further charged, the commission accountants inflated the showing of profits of the packing companies.

Calls Investigation Pro-German. Samuel W. Tutor, who with Chase had general charge of the investigation, Senator Watson charged, was "an avowed admirer of Lenin and Trotsky and frequently expressed his admiration of the Soviet Government of Russia."

"He was pronounced against the allies in the world war," continued the Senator, "and frequently made the statement that all big business should be confiscated by the Government."

A. S. Krayitz, credited in the commission's report with "important aid" in the investigation, Senator Watson charged, was "a Russian from Riga, an intellectual Socialist of the most pronounced type, and throughout the war intensely pro-German."

"He has always expressed himself as an ardent admirer of Lenin and Trotsky and claims to be a personal friend of Lenin. Frequently he has stated he was heart and soul for the German cause," said the Senator.

FILM PRODUCED BY AMERICANS IN PARIS SHOWS TOLL OF WAR

"The Heritage of France" Is Shown for First Time in Presence of U. S. Ambassador.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Oct. 20.—"The Heritage of France" is the title of a film produced under the auspices of the American Committee for the Devastated Regions of France, in which Miss Anne Morgan, Mrs. Sullivan and other prominent Americans are active. The picture was shown on the screen for the first time yesterday at the Champs Elysees Theater in the presence of Hugh C. Wallace, American Ambassador, and Mrs. Wallace, A. M. Thackara, Consul-General, and other members of the American colony.

The film depicts the terrible ravages wrought by the war. No professional actor took part in the production. Peasants everywhere are shown working out their own salvation, living in wooden barracks in the shadow of the walls of their former homes.

The film is a work of collaboration by Harry D. Lachmann, an American painter; M. Gember, director of the theater, and Wythe Williams, an American correspondent.

ALASKAN TRAINS TO RUN IN 1922

By the Associated Press. SEATTLE, Wash. Oct. 18.—Unless something unexpected happens, trains will be running over the Government railway in Alaska by 1922 or 1923, John W. Halliwell, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, predicted here recently upon his return from an inspection tour over the road. The railroad is being built from Seward, on the ocean, to Fairbanks, on the interior river system.

Within a few weeks the United States Senate will take up a bill appropriating $17,000,000 for the completion of the railway. The bill recently passed the House of Representatives. Assistant Secretary Halliwell said he believed the bill was certain of passage. Consideration of the peace treaty delayed final action on the measure.

NUT MARGARINE

(ASHBY PROCESS)

The Perfected Nut Butter—Free From All Preservatives Best Or Your Money Back!

Made by a New, Exclusive Process

The Nut Margarine industry is new in the United States and, until our discovery, Nut Margarine was made by the same process used in making oleomargarine (from animal fats). Because the results of using the oleomargarine process to make nut butter were so unpalatable, we decided it was not good enough for us and set about developing a new process. We were successful. We called our new discovery the Ashby Process.

GOODY is different from other nut butters—better—because it is the only one made by this new process—The Ashby Process—which enables us to make a dependable product.

Perhaps you have tried other nut margarine. Perhaps even you have used it for a while. You remember how pleased you were with the idea of nut margarine when you first heard of it.

GOODY is what you hoped other nut margarine would be—uniformly delicious and melts at the same temperature as creamery butter.

No Preservatives

GOODY is made from such pure ingredients by such a skillful, cleanly method that it does not need to be preserved.

The only purpose of a preservative in nut margarine is to cover up the carelessness or the ignorance of the manufacturer.

No Animal Fats

GOODY contains nothing but the white meat of the coconut, peanut oil, pasteurized milk and butter salt. Can you imagine a more appetizing food?

You can depend upon GOODY. It is always good when it has been kept as butter ought to be kept.

GOODY "spreads" like butter, making it more economical as well as more satisfactory than other nut butters.

Food prices are high—people cannot afford to experiment—so, for your protection we guarantee GOODY—

Best—Or Your Money Back!

"Buy a pound package of GOODY from your dealer. Serve it on the table. Use it in your cooking. Try it in any way you please. Then, if you do not like GOODY as well as the choicest creamery butter you ever ate, your money will be refunded without a word."

Now we want your ideas about how best we may let everyone else know these things about GOODY.

Remember—Cash prizes for the best ideas—a pound of GOODY Free if your idea does not win a cash prize!

BURGOMASTER OF VIENNA APPEALS TO U. S. FOR AID

People Are Absolute Beggers Who Face Despair With Food Viciously Exhausted.

VIENNA, Oct. 20.—Burgomaster Hasenauer has given the Associated Press an appeal to the American people to come to the relief of this "tried city" before it is too late. He predicts the most terrible suffering unless aid is brought to the city must live a hand to mouth existence.

"We have been rendered absolute beggars—a city of mendicants," he says. "There is nothing but despair here. The Austrian grain supply barely suffices for upper Austria, while the rest of the country is wholly dependent on importations. All of the stocks of Entente origin have been exhausted and no new contracts have been made for lack of credit. Forage for animals also is exhausted."

"Our meat ration recently was fixed at three ounces per capita weekly, but even this amount is unobtainable and intervals of weeks frequently occur between meat distributions. Fresh milk is available only for infants, and for them only in very limited quantities. The stock of condensed milk is approaching exhaustion. Eggs, beans, sugar, coffee and potato supplies have been exhausted."

"Nothing and shoes are a non-existent quantity for the masses. Our hospitals are about to be closed. Our schools are without fuel and must be closed. The number of unemployed increases daily."

W. U. COAST ARTILLERY UNIT EXCEEDS MINIMUM STRENGTH

Equipment Will Include One 155-Mm. Gun and One Eight-Inch Howitzer.

Enrollment for the coast artillery unit at Washington University, of which Maj. F. P. Hardaway has been detailed by the War Department to take charge, has exceeded the minimum strength of 50, and plans for its instruction and activities are being hurried.

Maj. Hardaway has a letter from the executive department of the Artillery Corps suggesting that requisition for the equipment be forwarded quickly and containing the assurance that special effort will be made to get the shipment off without delay. The equipment includes one 155-mm. gun, a 8-inch piece that represents the highest development in artillery by the French, and one 8-inch howitzer, also a submarine mine complete. The value of the equipment is placed at $100,000.

It is not likely that the training of the unit will include firing the guns. That part of the training will be had at Fort Monroe, to which students of the junior and senior grades are required to go in the summer and the other students being privileged and urged to go at Government expense.

In the first two years of the course, the training is of a basic nature and not very different from that in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, so that students who have been in that unit at the University and transfer to the artillery branch will go right along.

The field of the Coast Artillery, which before the war was limited to emplaced guns in coast fortifications, has been materially broadened, and in future will operate guns moved by train and tractor from point to point for coast defense.

JUNIOR CHAMBER REVUE FRIDAY
"The 1919 Revue," a musical show in 10 acts, will be given under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday night at the Moolah Temple, Vandeventer avenue and Lindell boulevard. The Junior Chamber Glee Club, under the direction of Ernest R. Claus and J. E. McKinnon, will give the musical numbers.

A feature of the show will be "The Sahara Desert," an act in which Cleopatra, represented by Harry Lorenz, will present a snake dance, in which the entire company, clad in ancient costumes, will participate. Other performers will be Jack Lupton, a female impersonator, in an oriental specialty; Rhein and Schulman will enact "The Slaves of Prohibition," and Nolan Stinson, and the club quartette composed of Harry Lorenz, E. J. Henry, Lathan, and Bloodworth, will sing.

EDITOR ON TRIAL TODAY FOR KILLING JUDGE DIVELEBIS

Robert S. Lyon Expected to Plead That Stabbing of Well-Known Jurist Was in Self-Defense.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
RICHMOND, Mo., Oct. 20.—At the Ray County Courthouse today, the murder charge against Robert S. Lyon, editor of the Richmond Conservator, in connection with the fatal stabbing of Judge Frank P. Divelebis on April 7 last, will be called for trial. The jurist died five days after the stabbing. Lyon is alleged to have admitted the stabbing, but is understood to have claimed his act was in self-defense.

The leading citizens of this section already have aligned themselves into factions over the case. On the streets and in the stores the trial is the chief topic of discussion.

When a stranger approaches, voices fall to whispers. There has been talk that several strangers have been "imported" into this community.

Lyon was arraigned in Circuit Court here May 14, a Coroner's jury returning the verdict that Judge Divelebis "came to his death from knife wound inflicted by Robert S. Lyon." Following this announcement Lyon was charged with murder in the first degree and his bond was placed at $15,000. Lyon is now out on bond, 42 prominent business men and farmers from all sections of the county signing his bond.

Stabbing in Courthouse.
The stabbing of Judge Divelebis occurred in a corridor of the Ray County Courthouse. There were no eyewitnesses. Judge Divelebis was standing in the office of C. E. Mayer, Circuit Clerk, the morning of the tragedy, when Lyon entered. The Judge left the room and proceeded toward the office of Sheriff C. W. Higdon, intending to remain there, according to a statement made by Judge Divelebis, until Lyon had transacted his business. In a dimly lighted hall, Lyon later met Judge Divelebis. According to a statement by Divelebis, Lyon threw his arm around the Judge's neck and began wielding a knife. The Judge was stabbed nine times, eight cuts being in the abdomen and one in the lower chest near the heart. He was taken to his home, where he died of his wounds the evening of April 13. Lyon surrendered to the Sheriff following the stabbing.

The trial promises to revolve about four bits of evidence said to have been preserved by the prosecution and the defense. These are the pocketknife with which Judge Divelebis was stabbed, the Judge's dying statement, a broken umbrella belonging to Lyon and the editor's coat, said to have three knife cuts in it. The knife and the dying statement are in the possession of the prosecutor, D. A. Thompson. Ownership of the knife has not been established. Lyon, in a statement he is said to have made, asserted the knife fell from the Judge's pocket during the scuffle in the hall and that he picked it up and used it in self-defense.

A small-town newspaper fight and a heated political campaign resulting in the breaking of former friendships are said to be back of the incident. In the two campaigns for the circuit judgeship, Lyon supported Judge Divelebis, but in the Democratic congressional primary of 1918 Lyon took the side of Representative J. W. Alexander, who was opposed by Judge Divelebis. During the campaign Lyon said the Judge made a speech attacking him personally, and that "it might have been considered sufficient provocation to shoot a man." The News, a staunch supporter of the Circuit Judge, printed smarting editorial attacks on Lyon, for which the editor of the Conservator is said to have held Judge Divelebis responsible.

Judge Divelebis' Career.
Judge Divelebis attracted wide attention during his career of 15 years as a lawyer, probate judge, circuit judge and candidate for Congress. When railroad dining cars were alleged to be selling liquor in dry counties in the seventh district, Judge Divelebis took the matter before a grand jury and declared the companies were bootleggers. In 1914 Judge Divelebis took up the campaign against tax dodgers. When the first grand jury went into session over this matter, his friends told him he wouldn't have a supporter left if he persisted.

"I didn't know perjury was as common as that," he replied. The grand jury, after deliberation without action, was discharged and an accountant set to work. Later a grand jury indicted 15 prominent citizens, including two of the first jury. Afterward 50 citizens of Ray, Carroll and Clay Counties were indicted for tax dodging, and in cases of conviction were fined $200 each and made to correct their tax returns. As a result of the campaign, more than $5,000,000 was added to the assessment lists of Carroll, Clay and Ray Counties.

Judge Divelebis was born in Ray County in 1870. He was a graduate of the University of Missouri. After practicing law 13 years he joined the Methodist Church at a revival. Two years later he resigned as Probate Judge and entered the Methodist ministry, but returned to the practice of law after only six months in the ministry. In 1896 he was elected Prosecuting Attorney of Ray County and served two terms. He was elected Circuit Judge in 1912 and re-elected in 1916.

BOY BANDITS CAPTURE MEN SENT TO ARREST THEM, SLAY DEPUTY

Citizens Hang One of Pair That Barred Tennessee Highway, After Wounding Him.
By the Associated Press.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 20.—Barreling themselves at a lonely spot on the Dixie highway, two boys, said to be James Oliver, 20 years old, and a companion, Ed Martin, both discharged soldiers, held up at the pistol point all passersby, from sunset until near midnight Saturday, robbed travelers, captured citizens who went out to arrest them, fatally shot Deputy Sheriff W. B. McIntosh and finally capitulated only after Oliver himself had been wounded.

Realizing that his comrade was slowly bleeding to death, Martin is said to have ordered the captive citizens to take Oliver to Ooltewah, so that he might be attended by a physician. After the citizens had started, Martin slipped away in the darkness and throughout the day posers have been scouring the hills of James County for him.

When Oliver reached Ooltewah indignant citizens took him from his former victims, placed a rope around his neck and strung him to the limb of a tree. He at last broke down and said that Martin was his accomplice in the holdups.

Deputy Sheriff McIntosh was one of the first to attempt the arrest of the pair and was fatally wounded. The Sheriff's assistants held captive said they were not permitted by the two boys to go to his aid and were forced to stand by and see him die.

The total debt is extinguished in Fourteen Years. Our serial feature is strongly emphasized in this loan—the margin of security growing wider each year, with the same security still behind the mortgage.

SECURITY
The notes are secured by a direct closed first mortgage on the land in fee and on the buildings now in course of construction thereon. We have appraised this property, land and buildings, at $2,200,000.

LAND
The land is a tract containing 21½ acres in Kansas City, fronting on Independence, Hardesty and Topping avenues and Kansas City Terminal Railway. The property is situated in the industrial and manufacturing district of Kansas City proper. The location is ideal for the purpose because of its large frontage on the Kansas City Terminal Railway (consisting of all the Railways entering Kansas City) and its close proximity to the Retail and Residential Section of the City.

There is now in course of construction on this property two reinforced concrete fire proof buildings containing in the aggregate about fourteen acres of floor space. One of the buildings is to be eleven stories in height, the adjoining building

In our opinion the security is gilt-edged and absolute, considered from the standpoint of the real estate alone. It is strengthened by the lease to the National Cloak & Suit Co. and assignment of the rentals as additional security. PRICE—Par and accrued interest to NET purchaser SIX (6) PER CENT. BRITISH-CANADIAN VETERANS TO MEET HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Will Perfect Organization to Care for Soldiers Who Were Disabled in War.

The British-Canadian War Veterans of America, an organization composed of men residing in St. Louis and vicinity, who saw service with the English and Canadian forces, will hold a meeting Tuesday night at Musicians' Hall, 5535 Pine street, to perfect their association. Records of the Canadian recruiting service show that approximately 1700 men residing within 100 miles of St. Louis were accepted here for the Dominion's army. About 200 St. Louisans were among these. The veterans' association was formed for the purpose of caring for disabled members and to observe the progress of relief legislation for soldiers now before the Canadian and British Parliaments. Two of the officers of the association, W. H. Holme, 3511A Utah street, and J. B. Francols, have served in two wars, the South African campaign and the last war. The organization is at present caring for two disabled Canadian veterans at local hospitals. George W. Searjeant of 4862 Kensington place is president.

PRODUCTION DRIVE OF C. OF C. BEGINS TONIGHT

Dinner Will Inaugurate Campaign to Increase Prosperity of City and Tributary Area.

A dinner tonight in Hotel Statler will open a three-day campaign of the Chamber of Commerce to determine how fully St. Louis will support the idea that the way to make St. Louis grow is to increase the production of the country about St. Louis.

The Chamber sent invitations to 10,000 St. Louisans whom it considered eligible to membership in the Chamber and whose co-operation it seeks in this movement. It was not expected that the attendance at the dinner would be anything but a small percentage of that number.

For four months speakers employed by the Chamber of Commerce have been going about the State promising that St. Louis would aid farmers to increase their production and for that purpose would establish a "Production Bureau" in its chamber.

The Chamber of Commerce is supported entirely by memberships at $50 a year each. The present activities consume all the money now obtained from memberships. If the Production Bureau is to be established it must be established with money obtained from new members. The chamber now has approximately 3400 members. Seven bankers and business men who have underwritten the $12,000 expense of making the effort for the establishment of the Production Bureau, have declared that unless the membership can be increased by at least 1500, the Production Bureau cannot function properly.

Walter Williams, dean of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri, will be the speaker at the Production Dinner, which will be at 7 o'clock. His topic will be "Missouri's Relation to St. Louis."

Other speakers and their subjects will be: Mayor Kiel, "Greater St. Louis"; Richard S. Hayes, president of the American Bankers' Association, "The Banker-Farmer Movement"; Rabbi Leon Harrison, "The Responsibility of St. Louis in the Development and Prosperity of Missouri"; Charles L. Niemeier, vice president of the Merchants' Exchange, "What Increased Production Will Mean to Missouri"; Festus J. Wade, "Housing Industrial St. Louis"; and Charles M. Hay, "Service."

CROIX DE GUERRE FOR PARIS

Decoration Pinned on Cushion Bearing the Arms of the City.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Oct. 20.—The Place de l'Hotel de Ville, where Marshals Joffre, Foch and Pétain received swords of honor during the victory celebration, was the scene yesterday of a great demonstration, when President Poincaré pinned the Croix de Guerre on a cushion bearing the arms of the city of Paris.

The public was freely admitted to the open space fronting the city hall, in recognition of the gallant manner in which the people of Paris withstood the fire of the long-range "Berthas" and the attacks of the enemy's air squadrons. A military review, concert and luncheon at the city hall followed. Free performances were given in the evening by the leading theaters and there was a special spectacle at the Chatelet for the children of Alsace.

SCHOOL TAX INCREASE OPPOSED

Tenth Ward Improvement Association Favors Cut in Expenses.

The Tenth Ward Improvement Association voted to oppose the proposed increase in the school tax levy, on which an election will be held Nov. 11. Members said the Board of Education should cut down expenses. The plan of giving children campaign literature favoring the proposal, to take home, was condemned. A resolution endorsing the Kenyon bill to license the packers was adopted, as also was one requesting Senator Spencer to ask the Senate for an investigation of the sugar shortage in the country.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel
Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablet called Calotabs, and which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way toward preventing influenza and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One Calotab on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Druggists sell Calotabs only in original sealed packages, price 35c. Your money will be cheerfully refunded if you do not find them delightful.—ADV.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL CAMPAIGN HERE BEGINS

"Rough Riders" Aid in Effort to Obtain $80,000 in City for Testimonial Fund.

An effort to obtain $80,000 in St. Louis of a national fund of $5,000,000 with which to establish memorials to Theodore Roosevelt in New York and Washington was begun today, which is named School day because teachers in the public and parochial schools were to talk briefly on the former President's life and receive contributions from the children.

There will be no street solicitation in the campaign, which will end next Monday, the anniversary of Roosevelt's birth. However, a squad of men called "Rough Riders," under the leadership of Robert E. Lee, will visit office buildings on Tuesday and Thursday offering opportunity for contribution. The coin cans they will carry bear the inscription, "For an American from Americans."

Tomorrow will be "Industrial day," when 5000 lists which have been mailed out will be collected. Each factory that goes 100 per cent for the fund will receive a picture, 12x14 inches, of the former President.

The committee in charge of the campaign is depending upon citizens to come forward of their own volition. Places for the deposit of contributions will be set up in the business offices of newspapers, public buildings and in department stores. Any sum will be acceptable. The committee desires that a large number of small contributors shall participate in St. Louis's testimonial rather than a small number of large subscribers. Receipts will be issued for $1 or more. Pledges of $10 or more, payable in 30 days, also accepted.

"Nothing that we will make the name of Theodore Roosevelt live longer," Mayor Kiel, chairman of the Memorial Committee, said today. "Our duty is not to the memory of Roosevelt, for it will endure, but to set up some sort of a reminder to future generations of the sort of Americanism that Roosevelt stood for."

"TUMBLE IN" FALLS UPON BED OF FAVOR

Rinehart - Hopwood - Harbach-Friml Concoction Has Fun, Plot and Melody.

Too many chefs have by no means wrecked the bouillon in the case of "Tumble In," which a large audience at the Shubert-Jefferson last night seemed to find of agreeable savor. The basis of the recipe was a fiction story by Mary Roberts Rinehart. Mrs. Rinehart and Avery Hopwood then cooked it over into a farce comedy, under the title of "Seven Days." Otto Harbach next garnished it with numerous lyrics, while the accomplished Rudolf Friml stirred in palatable condiments of music. It is now served up in its final form, that of a musical comedy.

The collaboration of Mrs. Rinehart assured a coherent plot and an abundance of humorous complications. First we have a stout young man who has been divorced without the knowledge of his redoubtable and very solvent Aunt Selma, who considers divorce in the light of a crime. Then we have Aunt Selma arriving suddenly and the imprisonment of an unmarried young woman to masquerade as the nephew's wife during her visit. The former wife appears on the scene, of course, after which the house is sealed by a quarantine for a week, because the butler has fallen ill with smallpox.

Also caught in the net is a burglar who, in his various hiding places, amiably does table rappings and tiltings for the benefit of another young girl who has been told she is a psychic, and even obliges by dancing as a ghost, wrapped in a sheet. The gathering of a party of bride-maids in the house gives opportunity for a retelling scene in which there is not one bed but about a dozen. Hence the title of the play, "Tumble In."

Friml's Able Music.
The chief comedy parts fall to Ada Meade, as the mediumistic young lady, upon whom a single cocktail has a sadly potent effect, and to John Philbrick, as Aunt Selma's nephew. Both acquitted themselves to popular approval. Edna Hibbard, as the nephew's pseudo-wife, is the target of some rather intimate pleasanties hurled by the plain-spoken aunt. Olga Mishka performs enjoyable turns of toe and burlesque dancing. The cast calls for about 30 persons, including a chorus which falls in both respects below the advance notice's promise of "a beauty chorus of 40."

The public has grown to accept the name of Rudolf Friml as a guarantee of tuneful, rhythmic songs and able composing for his orchestra. In these respects "Tumble In" is no disappointment. There are some 18 song numbers, of which "The Laugh" is the cleverest and "Won't You Help Me Out?" is the most fitting. His tunes are eminently singable. The orchestra, as large as that required for "The Passing Show" last week, and including a harp, is raised to operetta importance by being used to comment descriptively on the action of the play.

BIG CROWD WAITS OVER HOUR FOR ELTINGE SHOW
Late Train Delays Start of Female Impersonator and His Company of Vaudeville Performers.
Julian Eltinge, who is beginning to look like Rose Coughlin playing the Duchess of Something or Other, came to the American theater last night for what he says is to be his last appearance here for several years, as he is to start in December on a tour around the world with the same organization which is with him this week.

Eltinge, long one of the most popular of road stars, demonstrated his hold on St. Louis audiences when a crowd of about 1,500 people waited in the streets until after 8 o'clock for the doors of the theater to open, and then sat for more than an hour longer until the performance finally got under way. The delay was caused by the late arrival of a train bringing the company from Joplin.

Eltinge has his own peculiar offering of female impersonations, and appears twice on the regular program, once in a little playlet which is shown partly in moving pictures. In addition he recites a brief prologue in which he is seen in male attire as David Garrick. He is a rather robust Mr. Garrick.

The company of vaudeville performers appearing with Eltinge is a clever one, in spots. The entertainment will please the large number of theater goers who are pleased with Eltinge's style of amusement.

"THE PERFECT LOVER" knows he must have the Diamond Ring ready. It's easy to say, the Lotta was on credit. Lotta Bros. & Co., 24 floor, 308 N. Sixth st.—Adv.

Y. M. C. A. HAS EXTENDED SCOPE HERE THIS YEAR

Americanization Classes and Other Social Service Features
Have Been Added.

The St. Louis Y. M. C. A. organization has enlarged its scope of activities since the end of the war to include many new features of social service work, among which are the establishment of Americanization classes among foreigners, educational classes in the industrial districts, community work in two parts of the city, work among the high school boys, and the construction of two new buildings.

The industrial department, under the direction of Secretary Harry Ter Braak, has held noonday meetings, at which programs of music, vaudeville, and talks were given at the various factory districts, for the past several months. More than 2000 persons attended the citizenship classes, and 6531 the English classes conducted by this department last year. The classes are held in the factory buildings after working hours, and twice a week at the Central Library.

"Hi-Y" clubs have been organized at all the high schools as a part of the work of the boys' department. Secretary J. A. Wolfe is in charge of this department and Secretary Erickson has headed the department for community work. A community building has been erected in Carondelet, and $4400 has been subscribed for the construction of a building in the Benton-Maplewood district, for the use of the boys.

The negro Y. M. C. A. on Pine street, which cost $197,000, was dedicated last spring, and is now much used.

A rapid growth in membership has been noted at the Central Y. M.

C. A., where Secretary M. R. Murray is in charge. More than 1500 young men attend the classes of the educational section here, and 20 teachers are employed.

The most recent addition to the activities is the new North Side Y. M. C. A., which has cost about $280,000. The North Side Business Men's Association helped to obtain the funds for the building and aided in the membership drive.

REED EXPRESSES SYMPATHY FOR WILSON IN LEAGUE SPEECH

Senator Tells Paterson (N. J.) Audience He Would Stop Fighting if Other Side Would.

By the Associated Press. PATERSON, N. J., Oct. 20.—"The league of nations will bind Columbia to the chariot wheels of the British empire," declared United States Senator Reed of Missouri, speaking last night under the auspices of the Paterson branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom. "In the league England realizes her dream of 200 years," he added.

"I have the greatest sympathy for the President in his illness," said Senator Reed, "and hope, with the nation and the world, that his recovery is early and complete. I would be willing to stop fighting if the other side would stop, too, but even while the President is ill every sinister influence that would place the dollar above the flag is battling for the adoption of this league of nations plan."

McCann's Fourth Talk On

Kellogg's KRUMBLES

A DIET largely composed of denatured cereals or bread will not only fail to nourish the body but will tend to set up active disease.

"Certain of the diseases of malnutrition among children presents symptoms very similar to those we note among our pigeons fed on white bread. So striking is the similarity that physicians who have followed our work are already treating their patients with a diet of whole wheat bread.

"Our nerves are much less stable than in the days prior to a white bread diet. All our work suggests that the growing tendency of the age to neurasthenia, 'nerves,' etc., is due to removing from our diet those very elements of cereal food which nature has hid in the husk of the grain and which man, in his ignorance discards."

The three paragraphs quoted above were not written in the advertising department of a breakfast food factory. They are found in the 1912 report of nutritional experiments conducted in the bio-chemical laboratories of the university of Liverpool.

What Dr. Benjamin Moore and his associates, Drs. Eddie and Simpson, have to say as a result of their research is exactly what the French, German, Russian and American authorities have said. Foolish man ignores the helpfulness of their findings and continues to pay the price in pain.

We are so sure that you will be delighted with Kellogg's Krumbles that we make you this offer: Buy a package of Krumbles from your grocer; eat all you wish; if you are not entirely satisfied he will refund your money.

W. K. Kellogg

IF W. K. KELLOGG weren't paying for this advertisement thousands would never get even a hint of the truth. He is paying the bill because it has application to his own affairs.

Kellogg's Krumbles is a breakfast food, made after the formula suggested in the Liverpool laboratories. Instead of robbing the grain of its riches hid by nature in the husk, Kellogg's makes the effort to protect them.

The result justifies the commercial use of scientific truths in advertising the fact. I wish there were many more such facts to advertise. They indicate noteworthy progress in food decency, more than has been recorded since 1906, when the now dead and buried Food and Drugs Act was passed by Congress.

The white bread and refined breakfast foods that lead to the symptoms noted by Moore and his colleagues, contribute nothing to sinew, tissue, blood, bone or nerve.

Obviously such impoverished food should be replaced by others not impoverished. If these contrasts in fact should lead thousands of refined food-eaters to replace their white bread with whole wheat bread and their white breakfast foods with Krumbles, I would consider myself well recompensed for helping Kellogg to make Krumbles known for what they are.

Certain Members of Ethical Society
Object to Congressional Songs.
The question of whether congregational singing at the Ethical Society will be continued, is in the hands of the Executive Board, where the membership decided last night to put it.
There has been some objection by members to the practice on the various grounds that it detracts from the dignity of the service, disturbs the thoughtful atmosphere and delays the program. The members agreed last night that the board should settle the matter.
$200,000 for Monument to Americans
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 20.—The Chamber of Deputies last night voted a credit of 1,000,000 francs ($200,000) for national participation in the erection of the monument at Pointe de Grave, at the mouth of the Gironde River, in commemoration of American intervention in the great war.

LILLIAN GISH IS GREAT IN 'BROKEN BLOSSOMS'
Another Good Local Feature Is Film Version of "The Gamblers."

David Wark Griffith's poetic tragedy, "Broken Blossoms," opened yesterday at the Pershing Kings, Grand-Florissant, Junata and Shenandoah, and goes on today for a half-week showing at the Lindell.
This film drama is notable, among other things, for the opportunity it has given to Lillian Gish for an expression of her talents as an emotional actress. Though much has been said of the plot, the settings and the undoubted directorial genius of "Broken Blossoms," the fact remains that the greatest factor in its success, established long before its belated presentation in St. Louis, is the wonderful work of Miss Gish in the role of Lucy, the abused and cruelly downtrodden daughter of a London priest.

GOODE PROBABLY WILL ACCEPT
SUPREME COURT APPOINTMENT
Former Judge Richard L. Goode, dean of the law department of Washington University, who Saturday was tendered by Gov. Gardner appointment to the Missouri Supreme Court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Bond, said today that in all probability he would accept the place.
"I shall accept it if the Washington University Corporation will release me," Judge Goode said, "and I have reason to believe it will. I did not receive word of the tender until late Saturday evening and of course have had no opportunity to take up the matter with the university authorities. I probably shall know definitely in a day or two."
The university corporation has a rule that deans and other members of the faculty shall be retired at the age of 65, but upon vote of the members of the corporation a faculty member may be asked to remain longer. Judge Goode is 64. Chancellor Hall said today that before word of Judge Goode's appointment to the Supreme Court was received he had been asked by the corporation to remain three years after he became 65.

GERMAN DEPUTIES MARCH OUT
AS SOCIALIST STARTS TO TALK
Former Chief of Police in Berlin Is Under Indictment for Charges of Rioting and Grating.
By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Oct. 20.—Ministers of the Government and their attaches and the Deputies of all the political parties except his own, walked ostentatiously out of the Chamber Saturday afternoon, when former Chief of Police Eichhorn took the Speaker's stand during the debate on the Labor Ministry's budget.
Eichhorn, who is under indictment on charges of rioting and grating, but who is enjoying immunity from arrest as a member of Parliament, was not announced in the day's list of speakers until late in the afternoon. The moment he appeared before the Speaker's stand the Government bench and the floor of the House emptied en masse. Only the official stenographer and a few of the Independent Socialists remained in the Chamber.
Eichhorn began his address with a defense of the part he played in the revolution. He asserted that he merely played the role of "a revolutionary worker," and said he desired to combat the slander which primarily was responsible for the affront that had been offered him by the Assembly.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY SOILS ADAPTED TO FRUIT

University Expert Advises Farmers of County to Keep Milk Cows to Rebuild Soil.

The survey of St. Louis County soil being made by the University of Missouri College of Agriculture Experiment Station in co-operation with the United States Bureau of Soils reveals that the soil on more than two-thirds of the upland area consists of "loess," generally believed to be a glacial deposit, dropped in favored localities by the wind and accumulated during the long periods of glacial times. It has fairly high potential fertility, experts say.

The survey is being made at the request of the St. Louis Farm Bureau, an organization of St. Louis County farmers, that they might better understand crop conditions. St. Louis County, because of its location between the Missouri and Mississippi rivers, has received thicker and more extensive deposits of this material than any other county in the eastern part of the State. The loess is thickest on the bluffs bordering the two rivers, where it reaches a depth of 60 feet in some places. Its thickness decreases with the increasing distance from the rivers, averaging 10 to 15 feet at a distance of a few miles. On the steepest slopes of the Meramec Valley it is generally absent.

H. H. Krusekopf of the Agricultural Experiment Station has made the following report of the county lands:

Weathering Produces Difference.

"The remarkable uniformity of the loess material is the cause for the rather uniform soils on the uplands of St. Louis County. Such soil differences as do exist are the result, primarily, of varying degrees of weathering the original material has undergone. Thus on some of the high level divides, or ridges, as at Kirkwood, the soil has weathered more than on the better drained rolling land, with the result that the former places have lost more of their plant food and more unfavorable conditions have developed in the subsoil.

"The soil on the uplands bordering the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers has weathered, least, partly on account of its more recent deposition. For this reason the river hill land is marked by higher fertility than the lands more remote from the streams. Even the dark-colored soils of the Florissant Basin are derived from the loess and were deposited in the same manner and at the same time as lighter colored surrounding upland soils.

"The lower portion of the Florissant Basin probably originally formed a shallow lake which supported a rank growth of vegetation. The decay of the latter produced a large amount of organic matter which was incorporated with the soil and gave to it its dark color.

"In the southwestern part of the county the upland soils are deprived primarily from limestone and, in general, are less productive than the loess soils. The prevailing hilly surface of the limestone region permits rapid erosion and the constant removal of the surface soil.

"In general the soils have a fairly high potential fertility. Of the essential plant food elements they are most deficient in nitrogen and phosphorus. The virgin supply of these elements was small and has been further reduced by two or three generations of cropping. Some of the oldest formed land in the State is in St. Louis County. Potassium (potash) is abundant in practically all of the soils. The declining fertility is becoming increasingly evident in the difficulty of growing clover successfully.

Soil Causes Clover Failure.

"The many failures in recent years to get a stand of clover are frequently attributed to the unfavorable seasons, but investigation leads to the conclusion that unfavorable soil conditions are the cause.

"There is at present a rather widespread belief among St. Louis county farmers that most of their land is sour and is in need of lime. Much of the gray ridge land and most of the second bottom soils should give good returns from the use of one to two tons of ground limestone.

"As a rule, the higher the elevation of the land, the greater the need for limestone. There are of course exceptions to this rule, and the reverse may be true. Thus much of the dark-colored soil in the Florissant Basin is sour. The river hill land is usually well supplied with lime.

"Nearly all of the upland soils are low in phosphorus content. Analysis made by the Missouri College of Agriculture indicates that the phosphorus content is only about one-fourth of that of a normal fertile soil. Manure furnishes this element in relatively small proportion. A ton of ordinary barnyard manure contains about 10 pounds of nitrogen, three pounds of phosphorus and eight pounds of potassium. The use of a phosphatic fertilizer in vegetable growing and in wheat raising should give good returns. The quality of all seed crops is particularly dependent on a liberal supply of phosphorus in the soil.

"For the quickest results, acid phosphate is the best form to use, for it supplies phosphorus in a more soluble condition than bone meal or rock phosphate. It should be remembered, however, that applications of phosphorus do not usually prove of great value until the soil has been fairly well built up in organic matter and nitrogen.

More Clover Advised.

"There are at present less than 12,000 acres of clover on the 4000 farms in St. Louis County. This is an average of less than three acres of clover per farm. In the most successful farming practices it is generally considered that one-fourth to one-fifth of the total farm acreage should be devoted to this valuable crop. This wide discrepancy between existing conditions and normal good farm practices is a contributing factor to low yields.

"Successful market gardeners must operate on land of high fertility. Manure is without doubt the best general fertilizer for vegetable crops. Applications of 20 or more tons to the acre annually are not at all uncommon. Rapid replacement in recent years of the horse by motor truck in the city and on farms has resulted in a general decreased production of manure. To make good this deficit it seems probable that there must be readjustment in agricultural practices. Dairying, or the keeping of a few milk cows on every farm, not as a specialty, but as an adjunct to the other farm operations, is destined to become the rule. The animals will be kept primarily for the manure they will produce, so that the fertility of the soil may be maintained. A large portion of St. Louis County is better adapted to dairying than to general farming, yet less than 10 per cent of the city's milk supply is produced within the county. The soils of St. Louis County offer excellent opportunities for fruit growing. In fact, only a very small per cent of the best fruit soils are devoted to this industry. The deep, loose soil, or river hill lands, are universally recognized to be ideally adapted to orchard trees and to produce fruits of high quality."

Auto Crowded off Road, Banker Hurt
Robert H. Van Dusen, a Chicago banker, who was cut and bruised Saturday night when an automobile driven by R. S. Kennard, 4622 Maryland avenue, fell 10 feet over an embankment on the Ladue road, about one-half mile west of Clayton, said yesterday that Kennard's machine was crowded off the road by a machine approaching in another direction. He said that a sharp turn was necessary to avoid a head-on collision.

CATHOLIC CHURCH CLOSSES

DIAMOND JUBILEE WITH MASS

A solemn requiem mass for the repose of the souls of the departed members of the parish, at 8 o'clock this morning, ended the seventy-fifth (diamond-jubilee) anniversary of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Eleventh and Biddle streets, which began with a 48 hours' devotion last Friday night.

At 10 o'clock mass yesterday, the main event of the celebration, the church was crowded to the doors, many former members of the congregation, now residing in other sections of the city, being present.

Mr. Tannath, pastor of the Old Cathedral and chancellor of the archdiocese, representing Archbishop Glennon, who was out of the city, was celebrant of the commemorative military mass, and the uniformed branch of the Catholic Knights of America marched with swords drawn. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Daniel, Franciscan Friar, and the history of the church, which was founded by the Jesuit Order, was related by Father W. Andrew Gans, S. J. About 25 priests from neighboring parishes sat in the sanctuary.

Last night there was a parish reunion and entertainment in the school hall. There was a comedy sketch by St. Joseph's Dramatic Club, songs by the choir and addresses by Fathers Francis X. Vallazza, Henry W. Wolters and J. Hartmann.

Stomach Out of Order? Try NR

Nothing Better to Struggle With Than Out After Eating Too Much. Tones Liver, Regulates Bowels. Acts Pleasantly. Guaranteed.

Many people eat too much every day and most eat much too much some days. That is why Americans suffer more than any people in the world from indigestion, biliousness and constipation.

With a little thoughtfulness and care, however, a great amount of this distress could be avoided and you'll never realize how true this is until you become one of the several million people of this country who keep a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) constantly on hand and use it whenever indigestion, biliousness or constipation threatens.

Unlike laxative purges, cathartics, such as oil, calomel, etc., which merely force bowel action, Nature's Remedy exerts a beneficial influence upon the entire digestive and eliminative system—the stomach, liver, bowels and even the kidneys. Its purpose is to promote vigorous and harmonious action of all the organs that handle the food and body waste.

That is why the results which follow the use of Nature's Remedy are always a delightful surprise to those who first try it. The action is prompt and thorough, is as mild and gentle as pleasant as Nature herself, and the thorough cleansing the body receives brings a feeling of relief and benefit such as no laxative pill or cathartic ever produced for anyone.

Get a 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and try it. There is no risk in doing so, for it must give you greater relief and benefit than any liver or bowel medicine you ever used or money back instantly. It is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

A Mighty Step Forward For All of Us!

MEN of Missouri, Citizens of St. Louis—here is your opportunity to make this part of the United States the happiest, healthiest, wealthiest land in all the whole wide world! Team-work production on the biggest scale ever attempted is the plan. It's a simple plan, too, but if we all go at it Liberty-Loan-fashion it will yield the most astounding results possible to imagine! Briefly, it contemplates the increase of farm production and the establishment of harmonious, enthusiastic co-operation between city and country.

By compiling and furnishing data concerning soils, local, social and business conditions, roads, drainage, mineral and other resources, schools, cost of help, seed testing, breeding, feeding and care of stock, transportation, markets, labor-saving devices, etc., we, of the city, can help the farmers to produce more, to earn more. Then, in appreciation of our help, they will naturally spend some of their increased wealth in St. Louis, and everybody concerned will be benefited.

The logical organization to co-ordinate this work is the new Production Bureau of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, where the plan originated. But to undertake a task of such magnitude will require an organization far larger than is available under present conditions.

It means a new, bigger, better Chamber of Commerce.

It means a membership two or three times the present size.

It means that every merchant, every banker, every manufacturer, jobber, retailer and business man in St. Louis should join the C. of C. at once, thereby making possible this, the most vitally important project ever placed before our citizens.

Let's get in on this with the same patriotic vim and enthusiasm we displayed in war times. Let's show the rest of the world we are still a live-wire community. Let's again "go over the top" by building up in St. Louis the largest Chamber of Commerce in the United States. Let's tackle this practical, workable, wonderful plan with all the loyalty, energy and civic pride that is in us. Let's make Missouri the greatest farming State in the Union (it already ranks fifth, so we haven't far to go, after all), and St. Louis the most popular, populous and prosperous city in the Country.

The Well-Dressed Woman of Smart Society, What She Wears, the Time and the Place.

By Margaret Wade.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20. ACCORDING to one of Washington's well-known scientists of the most mind the unproven, the high temperature of October is due to the change of current in the Gulf Stream brought about by the digging of the Panama Canal and the meeting of the waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific. Following this discovery, if it be a discovery, the same scientist who has never pretended to be a weather prophet advises that the winter will not set in before Christmas and be of short duration.

In view of the high price of coal this prophecy still unknown outside the comparatively small circle familiar with the local scientific set is a matter of joy, but to the fashionable feminine world ready to wear velvet gowns, furs of greater elegance than Washington has ever known, and to those importers and modelers who cater to this favored class the weather is disconcerting. With the thermometer way up in 50 degrees no woman wants to wear a fur-trimmed suit or a velvet visiting toilet. In fact, no one wants to visit unless after dinner and then in real summer attire.

THE autumn brides of whom there are a goodly number and the usual garden of buds to come later are the only class of fashionable unaffected by the usual season, with wedding gowns and trousseau of the pre-war elegance and the large bridal parties that are again popular, excellent examples of what will be worn in smart society when the Gulf Stream is showing the newest effects in color which even more than the autumn modes.

Three fashionable weddings of yesterday afternoon showed two of the brides in white satin with the third, Miss Frances Capers, in the simplest of white crepe demi toilettes, by reason of the very recent death of her father and the deep mourning observed by his family.

At the Church of the Covenant, where Miss Lucy Flather was married to Mr. William Flammer at 4 o'clock, the bride wore white satin of the softest, richest weave, which lent itself to the much-draped mode with the bodice almost covered in rare point lace, which was veiled in tulle, giving a particularly light and airy effect to a toilet that meets all the requirements and emphasized the youth and the charm of the wearer.

A very distinctive feature of Miss Flather's gown and those of her five bridesmaids was that these perfectly made skirts were only six inches from the ground. The wedding gown was round length, with the court train attached midway between shoulders and waist.

The bridesmaids' gowns showed the new color taffeta, one in blue on the maid of honor, the others in pink. These were all made with drapery of matching chiffon in panicle effect with very smart girdles in silver, pink and blue.

At the same hour at St. Margaret's Church Miss Margaret Tuttle becomes Mrs. Streeter B. Fyfe of Oklahoma, wearing a white satin gown with court train, a tulle veil and orange blossoms, with a bevy of maids in the most fascinating pink taffeta frocks, showing the new slender waistline, the extended hip and a perceptible flare at the hem.

Miss Adelaide Tuttle, the sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a blue gown of the same model as the bride's, and all were picture hats of tulle and feathers. The bridesmaids wore pink or blue. WEALTH OF FINE FABRICS FOR COSTUMERS' ARTS

Blouse of printed voile, "Canterbury Horses" motif.

Looms of Leading Houses Have Been Producing Wonderful Silks, Satins, Velvets and Many Other Materials.

THERE were days when America used to despair of ever achieving anything that even approached the exquisite beauty of the hand-woven silks of France. Generations of patient weaving had produced fabrics that all the world in fact envied. When war stilled the looms, beautiful fabrics became scarce and so high priced that acquiring them seemed an almost criminal extravagance. And with many of the other war-stopped industries, America suddenly awoke to the possibility of trying her own powers to fill in the lack. And so the greatest silk houses in this country, with a special attention to texture, color and design, have been trying to turn out fabrics as beautiful as those of France. Now buyers who return from that country are unanimous in declaring that the American fabrics rival, if they do not actually overshadow, the French in the beauty of texture and design. Much thought is given to the fabric itself, to its use and the fancy of the woman who is to wear it.

Satin, for instance, always sought after by the well-gowned woman for afternoon as well as evening frocks, has been taken and improved upon. Formerly the high luster, in itself really the most desirable feature of the material, was sure to retain this brilliance and are at the same time as soft as cobwebs. They may easily be made up into the soft clinging gown of the Elsie Ferguson type, or perhaps some of the silks have a stipple effect, interesting effect in weaving that breaks the light on their surface and makes them as rich and deeply colored looking as materials woven of two shades of thread almost. Some are similar to the crepe meters of old but richer, with more body, and more crinkly in texture perhaps.

Very suitable, of course, are the new silks for afternoon gowns. The afternoon gown of satin has become really an indispensable item in the wardrobe of the well-dressed woman within the last few years. But most suitable also is this new and beautiful satin for outer garments, for wraps, for capes, and for dressy suits even with straight long clinging lines.

The Woman Who Buys. Another feature before mentioned that the manufacturers take into consideration in the manufacture of their materials is the psychology of the woman who buys—her decision as to her need of a certain type of the same shade. The ribbon is less than two inches wide and encircles the quite wide skirt from hem to waistline. The foundation skirt of satin is very narrow and comparatively short, with the chiffon showing a slight drapery to produce the new silhouette. The top is of the chiffon, with delicate embroidery of red and blue beads, the latter also decorating the soft high girde. Topping this, Mrs. Rossett wore the satin top of blue duetyne, dotted with red and blue beads matching the bodice garniture with the trimming, a long, narrow and very pliable quill which encircled the hat crown itself in the back and turned to fall low in the shoulder in front.

MRS. WILLIAM CROZIER, always one of the best dressed women of Washington or any other city in which she might find herself, is not waiting for cold weather to inaugurate her well-chosen winter wardrobe. Mrs. Crozier is wearing a dark serge gown of light weight, on very chile lines, with narrow skirt to her ankles and overdress with the tapering waistline which she tops by a fascinating hat of deep purple velvet, made with stiff, well-defined crown and a coronet brim trimmed except for a small decoration of gold embroidery and black fur.

dress, of the material, then the color, and lastly the design, which must be the order in the manufacturer's consideration of the qualities of his material. Yet, beautiful as is the material itself and its color—for there have been marvelous strides as far as color is concerned too—design has not suffered a bit. In fact, this season shows also an advance in that respect.

So popular have been some of the figured silks that they still continue to be used for afternoon frocks as well as for linings and trimmings, where they had perhaps their greatest vogue. Silks that took more the quality of novelty silks and were used for sport wear have taken to deeper colorings, and more staple, so that gowns, skirts and even wraps are being made of them for formal wear. And, by the way, manufacturers promise some very striking effects about December, in time for Southern wear. Wraps made of these new silks now exhibit fur as trimming, and rich silks and velvets for lining, so that they are altogether very luxurious garments indeed.

Velvets, still popular for dressy gowns, show a glory of color and design exceeding even that of last season. Very pictorial in character, very subtle in coloring and very delightful in design, they design themes as imaginative as the descriptions in the books of Jules Verne himself. "Under the Sea," in dim green golds, with queer shaped pale fishes and odd plants in lovely cool colorings; "The Canterbury Horses," quaintly designed and colored in more glowing hues; "Cathedral Windows," in the manner of stained glass, and "Dreams," in pale lavender, are some of the suggestive titles. Yet there are, too, sturdy oak leaves in deep autumn colorings and patterns that suggest old-fashioned chintzes, perhaps, and some as conventional as dainty wall paper. Yet these new motifs are without doubt the most charming and popular. These new figured velvets and silks are much used for blouses, the new overblouses being especially adapted to its picturesque character. Orchid stripes in pale gold against pale green backgrounds, and silver and blue in plaids, and plaids and stripes there are, too, as well as innumerable variations of all of these. The influence of batik still makes its mark in the treatment of certain motifs in silk that approximate the handwork. Of course, all these beautiful satins, crepes, velvets and silks are more luxurious than those we have been accustomed to purchasing, and the prices naturally, therefore, are more than those that used to be asked for less decorative fabrics. Women are buying more beautiful and more expensive materials now. Even negligees are made of the new velvets artistically combined with the new silks, sometimes of the identical patterns.

The Use of Tinsel. Last year tinsel effects, tinsel weaves and tinsel threads were much used. This season the ingenuity of American manufacturers has substituted gold and silver colored thread in brocaded materials that are remarkable in their resemblance to the "metal" thread. The materials have in consequence a thick, soft, rich texture that makes them more adapted to the litch, clinging style of gown. Very gorgeous are the colorings used—gold, cerise, sea green, white, with gold and silver colored thread.

Yet, curiously enough, this has not superseded entirely the use of the general luxuriousness of wearing apparel, will see the generous use of lace—black lace especially—as rich and beautiful as the hand-woven kinds worn in the time of our grandmothers. The girde, ever a picturesque addition to a costume, is being shown this season in all sorts of odd and unique guises. One worn by a well-gowned woman was noted as if it were a fisherman's net, and then gathered about the waist and nonchalantly tied with its tasseled ends hanging down as in any other girde.

Buttons, too, run to interesting effects. There are odd Chinese carved wooden ones, as well as amber, jet and enamel covered affairs sold at the notion counter, as were the ordinary bone buttons of old. Which proves that they are needed by the ordinary woman for her afternoon frock, if she would appear well and stylishly gowned.

White Linen Holds its Own. Sheer white linen continues to be the choice of many women in handkerchiefs, whether the handkerchief work of the French, which is fast disappearing, or of the less wonderful but still charming loom-woven linen with fine cording and hemstitching. Double work makes exquisite trimming on some of the finest things; it is done by appliqueing bits of the linen in tiny geometric or floral designs and is often found on dainty French mouchoirs made with the cut edge.

Like a fairy stealing back into legend comes the lace trimming, which everyone suddenly seems to want, and which has returned to favor after an absence of 15 years. Scarcely less popular is the border of pleated net which is also delicate and fetching.

The Curious Quest

By E. Phillips Oppenheim.

"If I am to be at Covent Garden at 4 o'clock with the notes you have given me," he interrupted. "I'd like, if I may, to get a little sleep early tonight. Besides, I shall have to go as far as St. Pancras and explain to my landlady there that I shall not want the room any longer."

"And I'm not sure you ain't right," Mrs. Mott agreed. "We'll have an evening to ourselves if you're so minded, later on in the week. There's your room in the back there, and if you're cold and uncomfortable, why, you shall come into the 'ouse, and that's all there is to say about it."

She gave him a few more instructions with regard to the morning and left him. Bliss walked to the back of his way back to his lodgings and sought out Mrs. Heath.

"Got a job," he announced triumphantly.

A rare smile lit up her wan face. "I'm glad," she said simply. "I've got to live in," Bliss explained, "but of course, I'll pay you a full week's rent instead of notice. But I want to know whether I could take my things away and bring you the money next Saturday or Sunday."

"There's no week's rent for you to pay, not nothing of the sort," Mrs. Heath declared warmly. "I can let your room in five minutes, although—I'm sorry you're going, Mr. Bliss. Can I help you put your things together, sir?"

"It isn't five minutes' job," Bliss assured her, holding out his hand. "Good-by, Mrs. Heath. You've been quite a friend to me. I shan't forget. Very likely I shall be back again before long."

"There's always your room, sir, when it's convenient," she promised. Bliss packed his few belongings and returned to Poplar. The house and shop were still in darkness. He climbed up into the loft where it was supposed to sleep, and by the light of a candle looked around him. The uninviting-looking bed, the absence of any washing utensils, the torn and filthy piece of linoleum upon the floor, its only covering sickened him. He turned out again into the streets. For an hour or so he wandered aimlessly about. He seemed just for that one evening, at any rate, to have lost all consciousness of his own identity; to have become, indeed, one of the waifs and tollers with whom he rubbed shoulders all the time. He felt the attraction of the gaily lit public houses, with their suggestion of warmth within. The boisterous chaff and shrill laughter of the hooligan girls he met, walking arm in arm past the picture palaces, even stirred in him some faint desire for adventure. He lost himself in the crowded thoroughfares where he hardly heard a word of English; where sallow-faced, stooping men passed by like yoke-bearing animals, talking Yiddish or Russian; where the women leered at him from dark, mysterious side streets, grimly fascinating in their suggestion of crime and mystery. He felt the thrall of alien London; something of the terror of it crept into his blood. He seemed to be amongst a race beaten in a futile struggle towards humanity, beaten back into the semblance of the animal. Even his miserable stable seemed like a refuge, when at last he crept back to it and munched the food which he had bought. That night he found no consolation, even in the thought of the freedom which must some day be his.

Overanxious not to be late, it was only a little after 3 o'clock when Bliss, after that long drive through the empty streets of London, took up his appointed place in Covent Garden market. The darkness was unbroken; the lamps of the city were still throwing their lights on to the low-hanging clouds. Only once had Bliss smiled since the wretched moment when he had struggled into his clothes and with blue fingers harnessed the pony, and that was when, seated upon the trolley, he had driven his strange-looking equipment down Gracechurch street, past the premises of his stock brokers, whose strong coffers were laden with his securities; past the office of his solicitors, where black boxes after black boxes, with his name upon it, lined the shelves. The depression of last night, however, still lingered. The sense of adventure which had sustained him at first had become curiously dormant. The sordidness of poverty had caught him, for the nonce, in its toils.

He fastened the pony to a weight by one of the reins, and, crossing the street, drank a cup of coffee at a stall. The coffee was hot and strong and marvellously refreshing. Something like new life crept through his frozen veins. He stopped to listen. From afar came the sound of music.

"There'll be some of them swells round presently," the stall keeper remarked. "There's one or two of 'em never misses, half night, coming to 'ave a cup of my coffee."

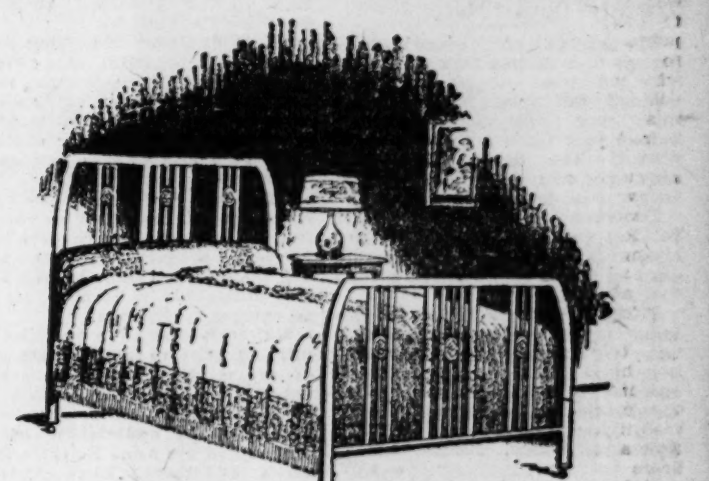

"Is it a fancy dress ball tonight?" Bliss asked.

"The man nodded. "They're been going up by yonder in streams," he declared. "All at a guinea a time, too. My word! There's money about if only one could get 'old of it!"

Bliss wandered back to his stand. Some vans were unloading round his trolley. One of the men, who recognized the pony, spoke to him.

you spend in bed. This third renews your energy for making the most of the other two-thirds, so be comfortable.

Simmons Beds and Sealy Mattresses form a combination affording the maximum of comfort (nothing could be better for relaxing, refreshing sleep) and yet their cost is conservative, fair and within the means of the average person.

Aside from the perfect sleeping comfort, a Simmons Bed and a Sealy Mattress make a good-looking a bed as it is possible to own.

That hospital look of the ordinary metal bed has overbalanced with many a home maker the undeniable sanitary feature. But now a Simmons Bed (all metal and of the highest grade) comes in design and finish so cleverly done as to deceive the most practised eye in judging American walnut or brown mahogany. There are other finishes, including ivory or French gray enamel.

Sealy Mattresses are untufted. They "make up" perfectly, their smooth, even surface charms the housewife, while this same lack of lump or bump assures comfort for the sleeper.

As to the wearing qualities of Sealy Mattresses, the Sealy people guarantee them to remain in this state of perfection for 20 years. Their cost is nominal, the peculiar advantages considered.

We have at all times full and complete lines of these most excellent sleeping accommodations.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

Puss, a Mouse and a Spider.

BROWN MOUSE came out of his hole in the wall, which landed him right on a shelf in the pantry. The hole was hidden by pans, and Brown Mouse never thought of such a thing as that the pans might be moved.

One day he was bold enough to run out in the daytime and stayed, and getting a bad fright from seeing Puss come into the pantry, he ran out of the door into the kitchen and out into the yard.

Here he managed to escape by running under the steps, where Puss could not follow him.

All day he stayed there, and all night, too, and it was not until the next day that he could get back to his own home.

But what was his surprise when he went to the hole in the wall to find the pan had been removed and that Madame Spider had woven a web right over the opening and was sitting there, waiting for a stray fly.

"You have closed up the door to my house," protested Brown Mouse. "I am afraid I shall have to tear away your web, but I really must get in. You know, it isn't safe for me to be out here!"

"Oh, dear, what shall I do?" wailed Madame Spider. "It took me so long to find this place, and I worked so hard to weave this beautiful pattern, and now you are going to destroy it!"

"Of course, I cannot protect myself against such a big, strong animal as you, Mr. Mouse, so I must submit. Oh, dear, oh, dear; how miserable I am."

Mr. Mouse grew thoughtful. "I suppose I am big and strong and ought not to take advantage of such a little frail creature as she is," he thought. "I won't break down her home."

"Don't worry, Madame Spider," said Mr. Mouse. "Stay right where you are. I can easily make another hole in the wall, and I do not think Puss will get me up here, so make yourself easy; your home shall not be destroyed."

Madame Spider said she could never thank him enough and off he ran to make a new door to his home in the wall.

Some time after this all happened Mr. Mouse grew bold again and ran out of the pantry one day and Puss saw him.

Around the kitchen she chased him, and by and by she had him cornered. He could not get back to the pantry, and Puss was very sure of getting him, so she sat quite still and watched poor trembling Mr. Mouse, who was sure his end was near.

But he had a friend close by, though he did not know it, for right over Puss' head was the new home of Madame Spider, and when she looked down and saw what was going on she knew it was time to pay her debt of gratitude to Mr. Mouse.

Madame Spider let herself down by a slender thread right over Puss. Then she swung herself right into one of Puss' eyes.

Puss bent her head and brushed her eyes with one paw. It took only a wink of time, but it was enough. Mr. Mouse was saved, for when Puss opened her eyes again he was gone.

Madame Spider, too, was safe up in her home again, feeling very contented, for had she not saved the life of Mr. Mouse, who once had spared her home?

That night, when Mr. Mouse was thinking over all that had happened, he suddenly remembered the Spider that saved him.

"Why, I do believe it must have been Madame Spider, whose home I spared a long time ago," he said. "Well, well! You can never tell when you will need a friend, and even the weakest ones sometimes are able to do the biggest deeds of kindness."

Washington Coach Points Out His Men Were Playing Their First Real Game of Year.

DIRECTOR PRAISES ENDS

Maroon Pilot Will Spend Week Correcting Weaknesses Shown in Tilt With Aggies.

After being informed that Assistant Coach Schults of the Kansas Agricultural College provided a Missouri victory over Washington and that Griffith was impressed with the Aggie line-charging superiority over the Pikers, Coach Dick Rutherford asked for permission to ascend the public platform to give vent to his views on Saturday's contest.

Mr. Rutherford said, to wit: "Let me say right now that Washington played below its standard not only defensively but also offensively. I will admit that at many stages of the play the Aggies were outchargin' our line. However, one must realize that this game was our first real mix-up of the season, as Drury furnished little more than practice for the team. The Aggies played Missouri a week earlier, and Cleveland had an opportunity to see the shortcomings of his men. I understand from Mr. Beck, my assistant, that the Aggies looked like a different team from the one which met Missouri in Manhattan.

End Problem Solved. "I am satisfied with the way that every man on the team played. The ends were a revelation to me, and I think that that problem is now about solved. We gained more yardage on returning punts than our opponents gained, and only a small part of their rushing gains came from ends and backs. That speaks pretty well for Haffner and Hauland. As to the guards, they must be considered that Kurrus and Bailey both went into the game with injuries, and they were also playing in their first Conference games. I think that they will be a great pair of guards before the close of the season."

Rutherford is not a pat-on-the-back coach and has never been known as a flatterer. Usually he is impressed with the faults rather than the virtues of play. The coach was disappointed with the kicking off of Haffner, and stated that this duty would be switched to some other member of the team better fitted for the work. Haffner's boots were all low and generally short. His four efforts carried the ball to the 35, 15, 25 and 20 yard lines, respectively. Thus the Aggies were able to bring the ball far upfield on all kickoff plays, putting the local team in rather warm water to start off hostilities. The former Golden youth had never done any mound-kick work before last week, when he showed some promise in the workout.

Pulling the Unusual. Many people were rather surprised to see Counselman call for a forward pass on his own 20-yard line. Of course, history will now record that the pass was good and put the ball in midfield; but the kickers for gridiron technique still maintain that he took a tremendous risk. "That wasn't the only risk of the game. Jimmy called for a trick cross-back play on the fourth down with two yards necessary to gain before the first touchdown. As a matter of fact, the doubling Thomas was as well used to being fooled by Counselman, because he is about the most unorthodox field general seen here or hereabouts in many years."

Following the game one of the officials said, "That man, Counselman, is a great quarterback; but he takes awful long chances. As a matter of fact, he is a player that will take chances in every game, and will get away with it. He is a player that will take the kind of a play that sees the outcome of a game uncertain until it is over."

Old Trick of Jim's. It might be remarked that James attempted some of his originality while leading the Great Lakes team last year. He tried to forward pass Northwestern to distraction on a quagmire field; but didn't get away with it. The naval authorities didn't like such tactics, so Counselman did bench duty for a long time thereafter.

Rutherford says there will be a lot of work for the squad this week, and he hopes to erase all of the day, of course, today's workout will be light in order not to aggravate any of the recent injuries. The extent of Kurrus' injury is not yet known. The husky guard entered the game with a bad ankle and most of the Parkway hangers-on were surprised to see him remain in play as long as he did. Last August he injured his chest and he is now playing against his physician's orders. Rutherford was badly bungled and bruised after the play and seemed to be more downed than any of his teammates. The job of holding his position and endeavoring to assist the newcomers at his side was a little job for the dependable center.

Yale Quarterback Injured. NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 20.—Thorne Murphy, Yale quarterback, will be out of the game for several weeks. An X-ray examination of his left leg yesterday showed that the bone was splintered above the ankle in Saturday's game with Boston College. Jim Braden, fullback of the Yale eleven, was a cut on one eye as a result of the game Saturday and will be lost to the team for at least ten days.

Pirates Again Beat Cubans. HAVANA, Oct. 20.—The Pittsburgh team again was victorious over the local team yesterday, by a score of 10-0.

Pikers' All-St. Louis Team Best Football Machine in Conference, Scores Show

Eleven Composed Almost Exclusively of Local High School Graduates Has Fine Chance to Win Valley Championship—Line Still Has Weak Spots.

By John E. Wray,

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY'S football machine is certainly no flivver. That was demonstrated Saturday in one of the most spectacular battles ever seen on a local gridiron, when the Pikers overcame a determined, well-coached enemy in the Kansas Agricultural team.

The local eleven displayed nearly all that had been expected of it, save for a defensive weakness of the line that came as a surprise to many. At times the Aggie horse fairly belched through the Washington forwards, between the yards and tackles, and in a manner that the Pikers found the gravest difficulty in checking. It is on this weakness that the coaches will doubtless concentrate during the remaining weeks of the season.

For the rest, the Parkway unit is "there" with almost everything needed to compose a modish and classed "tank" of a strictly up-to-date model. Saturday's play showed that, with James Counselman in at quarterback, the mighty Simpson of last year never will be missed. Jimmy also, in a measure, makes up for the loss of Joe Evans as an open field runner.

The team displayed a backfield of great power, two good tackles, a superior center rush and two ends who performed better than had been anticipated. In fact, they agreeably surprised those who had expected to see the team's principal weakness displayed on the flank extremities. Not that they were entirely satisfactory, however. There is room for improvement here.

Pikers Refused to "Quit." The team has fighting heart, as was shown several times when they rose to the necessity of stopping the Aggie's plunging. In fact, despite that the locals were outgained, in carrying the ball, Washington displayed the better rushing punch, when gains were imperative.

The best feature about this football eleven is that almost in its entirety it is composed of players born in St. Louis and vicinity, and developed in local fields, largely under Mound City high school coaches. Of the 12 men who played for Washington University yesterday only one man was not a St. Louisan—Bailey of Silkeston, Mo.

This is probably a record in university circles. It also reflects credit on the quality of the St. Louis high school coaching and on the football spirit displayed in "prep" schools of the city. More than all, however, it is an endorsement of the methods of Coach Rutherford, who had most of these boys under his eye last season. One does not have to be a crystal gazer or a clairvoyant to foresee a splendid tie campaign for this eleven with every prospect of final success crowning the Pikers' efforts. On the "dope" thus far shown the

Six Big Ten Teams Have Title Hopes; Defeat of Pittsburg a Surprise to Fans

MICHIGAN, Minnesota, Illinois, Chicago, Wisconsin and Ohio State are still survivors in the Big Ten conference race. Four eleven's having been definitely eliminated by the games of the last two weeks. As between these contenders it is possible that the end of the campaign will see a deadlock, as the schedules are so arranged that some of the contenders do not clash. As between the six teams named the form discriminates by half-line margins or confuses in such a manner that the names of next Saturday will be required to clarify the situation.

Jay Magidson, the former Michigan player, who refereed the Pikers-Aggies game, vouches for the information that every coach in the Big Ten Conference imagined he had the potential champion this year.

Buckeyes Have Great Eleven. Ohio State is a better team than Minnesota was last Saturday, on comparative scores. On a line through Kentucky, Ohio State is 24 points better than Indiana, while Minnesota is only 14 points superior to the Hoosiers on the score of Saturday. However, Indiana's points were dropped; the Gophers merely used straight football to beat their Hoosier opponents. What potential strength Minnesota owns remains to be seen. This eleven does not appear to have gained its full momentum as yet.

There is very little difference between Chicago and Illinois, on their defeats of Purdue. Michigan has won undergraders think will be the champion eleven, and it has rolled up impressive scores against its opponents in its games. It did not have to extend itself to beat the Aggies.

There are many who believe that the game between Minnesota and Michigan will about decide the title, on November 22.

Old Man Depe Mangled. Several surprises shocked the form followers Saturday. Form surprises are to be expected this season, as the season is the fallible left-over dope from last year which could be depended upon to apply this year.

The most noteworthy shock was the defeat of Pittsburg by the Gargantuan Syracuse huskies. The score, 24-0, was seemingly truthful as indicating the strength of the two teams. It was the first downfall the Panthers have experienced in five seasons, at the hands of a collegiate team. Syracuse must have covered up its strength with remarkable industry during its game against the Army, the week previous. Army is not strong. It defeated Maine Saturday, by one touchdown. Yet Syracuse won from the cadets, 7-0.

Harvard Leading Yale. In Big Three circles Harvard appears to be developing faster than Yale. Comparative scores against Boston College show a Boston victory over Yale, 5 to 3, while Harvard rolled up 17-0 against the same opponent. Princeton had an easy game and its large score is no indication of strength.

Bechtold's decided defeat of Cornell was expected; but the 21-0 score tells us that the little New York college is again wielding a big stick in the championship struggle.

In the Valley conference Dubuque College shocked the Valley conference pride by giving an overwhelming beating to one M-Y member, Grinnell, score, 30 to 4. These Iowa schools do the most surprising things. The minor institutions rise and thrive in the larger ones almost annually.

Morningside always has a good eleven and Grinnell, before it became a conference member, took a fall out of Ames, every now and then.

Dubuque on the Grinnell "dope," is stronger than almost any eleven in the Valley conference.

Ben Millers Take Second Place By Beating Scullins

Innisfales Retain Soccer League Lead by Blanking St. Louis Screw Co. Team.

2 REAL CUP CONTENDERS

Irishmen and Ratican's Eleven Look Best After First Complete Series of Games.

Following the playing of the first complete series of games in the St. Louis Soccer League, the Innisfales and Ben Millers took up as the strongest eleven in the circuit this season. At present the Irishmen are showing the way with three straight victories, having been scored upon only once. The Millers lost the first tilt of the campaign, but have come strong in the last two.

Yesterday at Cardinal Field the Innisfales took a hard-fought contest from the St. Louis Screw Co., 1-0, while the Millers took second place by trimming the Scullins, 2 to 0. Another record crowd, totaling more than 3000, witnessed the struggles, which showed that the eleven were rapidly hitting their real stride. Even the St. Louis Screw Co., which has dropped three straight clashes, played better yesterday than in any other game. This was mainly by virtue of the fact that several new players, among them Joe Barge in goal and the addition of Miller, Schimmel and Wilmer to the forward line.

Two Good Cup Eleven's. The early games seem to indicate that St. Louis will have two real contenders in the U. S. F. A. cup competition. However, the eleven's play in the cup round until Nov. 23 and before that time the others may have strengthened sufficiently to make the Irishmen and Millers bustle to remain in the title round.

The wise ones at Cardinal Field figure that the Ben Millers will romp away with the pennant. However, next week they will face a real test when they oppose the Innisfales in a clash to decide first place. Ratican has a veteran team, one that captured the title in 1916-17 and 1917-18. In the battle with the Scullins yesterday, Billy Quinn, rated as one of the best halfbacks in the league and who last year, in the service, proved the outstanding star, scored both his team's goals, some-thing unusual for a halfback. However, the outstanding star, Zarnick, every rush to the goal and is always in position to take the ball when it is booted out by an opponent.

Quinn Scores Two Goals. Quinn's first score came shortly before the close of the first half, when he headed the ball into the goal. His other goal came in the closing period.

Yesterday's clash showed that while the Scullins have a fast team, they are in need of forwards who can shoot. The Innisfales' defense was the fullback position also hurt.

The Innisfales-Screw Co. contest was a real battle. The tallenders played the leaders to a standstill for the greater part of the battle. The only score came near the completion of the first period, with Prindle shooting.

Bechtold Misses a Penalty. The Screw Co. exhibited some great teamwork in the closing period and had the Irishmen backs on the run a great deal of the time. However, some good work by Dave Bortles in goal kept them from scoring. The losers' best chance came when they were awarded a penalty kick, but missed by a few inches.

HORWEEN AND CASEY TO BE OUT UNTIL NOV. 8

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 20.—Ralph Horween, the star fullback of Harvard's football team, and the best kicker developed so far this year at the college, and Eddie Casey, right half back, sustained injuries in the game with Brown Saturday that are expected to keep them out of the lineup until the Princeton game on Nov. 8. It was announced last night that Horween's collar bone was dislocated and Casey strained a tendon in his leg.

INTERCLUB GOLF PLAY POSTPONED TO OCT. 29

The next interclub competition of the St. Louis District Golf Association has been postponed from Wednesday, Oct. 23, to Oct. 29. The shift was made because of the Investment Bankers Association convention which would have prevented the clubs from having full teams in the field. The schedule arranged for Wednesday will be followed next week.

E. SCHWARZ AND DREWES VICTORS IN MUNICIPAL DOUBLES TENNIS FINALS

Elmer Schwarz and Ted Drewes captured the Municipal doubles tennis championship by winning from Art Reppert and Walter Finger on the Forest Park courts, yesterday morning, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5. The feature of the match was the steady playing of Schwarz, especially in the fourth set when it looked as if Reppert and Finger would tie the match. The champions had easy sailing in the first two sets and were leading, 4-1. In the third, when Reppert and Finger spurted and played their best tennis of the day to win the set, Schwarz and Drewes also led in the fourth set, mainly through Drewes' errors. Schwarz then came through and won the set and match.

Since the last tournament seven years ago, Cochran and Schaefer have advanced, particularly the latter, Cochran, then a mere youth, was given a big handicap by Hoppe, who annihilated the opposition. In the match with Cochran he ran 308.

Both the younger players are now performing in championship style, in practice matches, but thus far Cochran has not been able to live up to his private form in "money" performances. Schaefer is the real "hope" of the field to beat Hoppe, and his chance is not considered bright.

Hoppe vs. Cochran Tonight.

The event will consist of a round-robin schedule of 21 games of 400 points each to decide the right to the title of national champion at 18.2 ballkine. Morning matches have been arranged for Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, while afternoon and evening games will be played every day up to Saturday night, when the final contest will be decided.

The games scheduled for this afternoon will bring to the fore Ora Morningstar, the Indiana player, who is entered from San Diego, Cal., and Jake Schaefer, whose home is in San Francisco. Later in the day George F. Slosson, the New York veteran, entered from Boston, where he now resides, and George B. Sutton of Chicago, will renew their efforts in championship play. Tonight, the titleholder for the last seven years, William Hoppe, of New York, will meet Walker Cochran, the young Detroit exponent.

MISS HAGEMEYER AND BROWN WIN NET TITLE

Miss Lottie Hagemeyer and Wray Brown won the city mixed doubles championship on the Triple A courts yesterday, defeating Miss Etta Roeber and Billy Bascom in straight sets, 6-6, 7-5.

TIME counts when you need a physic

TIME counts when you need a physic, because constipation, if neglected, is frequently the fore-runner of colds, gripe, tonsillitis, influenza and more serious ailments.

When you are constipated, germs multiply in your intestinal tract and poisonous waste matter is absorbed into the blood.

Yet many people parley with constipation by taking slow-acting cathartics of uncertain and incomplete action.

When you take such a cathartic you waste valuable hours—only to find that you are still constipated.

The one best way to cleanse your intestinal tract quickly and thoroughly of poisonous waste matter is to take a dose of Pluto Water.

Pluto Water is bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana, and is a recognized curative agent for kidney, liver and stomach troubles, rheumatism and nervous disorders.

Your physician prescribes it.

HOPPE TO PLAY TONIGHT

Champion, Who Has Held Balkline Crown for 7 Years, Opposes Welker Cochran.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Whether any balkline billiard talent capable of measuring up with the hitherto peerless Willie Hoppe has developed in the last seven years will be decided this week as a result of the tournament which will be begun today in the ballroom of the Astor House here.

Seven players, ranging in years from the 65 admitted by George Slosson, to 22, Walker Cochran's published age, have entered. The other contestants will be George Sutton, former champion; Ora Morningstar, also a former titleholder; Willie Hoppe, Koji Yamada, the Jap, and Jake Schaefer, son of the late "Wizard" Jake Schaefer Sr.

Unless accidents occur, hope of beating Hoppe rests with Morningstar, Young Jake Schaefer and Cochran. None of the three seems to have more than an outside chance, as Hoppe's performances stand out above all his rivals convincingly.

Since the last tournament seven years ago, Cochran and Schaefer have advanced, particularly the latter, Cochran, then a mere youth, was given a big handicap by Hoppe, who annihilated the opposition. In the match with Cochran he ran 308.

DREWES AND JOSTIES WIN EXHIBITION MATCH

Fred Josties and Ted Drewes, local tennis stars, defeated F. P. Wilmer and R. E. Callahan, California players, in three straight sets in an exhibition match played at Forest Park yesterday. The scores were 7-5, 7-5, 6-4. The Californians were not at the top of their game due to a lack of practice.

In both the first and second sets the visitors started with a rush and captured three of the first four games. Before Drewes and Josties hit their true stride. The locals led throughout the final set.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE LAST STRAW.
(Lines written after looking at the latest laundry bill.)

No longer I speak of the grocer
In terms of derisive abuse;
He charges a lot, but he's probably got
Some sort of a valid excuse.
No longer I snap at the hatter
For asking ten bucks for a hat.
I know he'll proclaim that he isn't to blame,
And maybe he isn't at that.

The goods that the grocer and hatter
Exchange for my pitiful pelf,
I simply must buy; though the price is sky high,
I never could make 'em myself.
But when I am told by the laundry
That the rate for destroying my shirts
To tatters and rents is now twenty-eight cents,
Where it once was eleven, it hurts.

If filling false teeth on my collars
Till they bite gaping holes in my neck,
If clawing the breast of my best evening vest
Till all that remains is a wreck,
If tearing silk stockings to atoms
Is worth what the washer-men claim,
I'll blow my few beans upon mangling machines
And get in the laundering game.
